Evolution in media: The "Evolution is a verb" discussion is over We know that "Evolution is a verb". But did we ever really know? I got to witness a really great conversation about the power of the Creative Commons last week. A group of IBMers went to the Museum of Modern Art in New York to see Jackson Pollock and the creative work he created there. While there they were approached by a very young New York man, who looked like a high school student, perhaps the coolest high school student you've ever seen.
